Subject: Exelis Visual Information Solutions Academic Price Policy

Exelis Visual Information Solutions (“Exelis”) offers special academic pricing for products in its IDL and ENVI line of tools, as well as SARscape and ENVI for ArcGIS Server (“Software”). Prices include software license(s) with twelve months of software maintenance and technical support, which includes software updates.

To qualify for academic pricing for the Software, the purchasing academic institution must be an accredited, degree granting institute.

Academic activities co-located within government, non-academic research, or commercial entities are required to agree in writing that academically priced Software licenses will not be used by commercial, research or government employees. Such sites may purchase the mini-lab, lab and department options on the academic price list.

Exelis will grant the academic institution the right to use the Software as long as the Software is installed on systems owned and operated by the academic institution. The license also grants the academic institution use of the Software for teaching and academic research purposes only.

Exelis specifically excludes the academic institution’s use of the Software for any government, non-academic research, or commercial use. Software licenses under this policy may not be transferred, distributed, sold or otherwise provided to any persons, facilities, organizations or other educational institutions without the consent of Exelis.

All Academic pricing is up to the discretion of Exelis and is subject to change.
